We hope you enjoy Creators: Curators. Gallery g has curated this 14-piece collection by three widely-acclaimed, award-winning sculptors specifically for Spin YPO South Asia Freewheeler 2015, to make the most of its scenic venue.

Rajesh Sharma orders India's present-day realities, and the world's, to reflect his concerns. A 'turbulent strain of development' and 'lopsided progress' are portrayed with a bit of surrealist humour. A version of his Indian Coca-Cola, on show here, won an Australian Sculpture by the Sea award.

Sharma works in fibreglass and various metals from copper to steel and chrome.

Suvajit Samanta works in steel, bronze and fibreglass usually to a smaller than life-size scale. His figures are detailed, modern and directional even while they suggest a child's take on what a grownup world might be when the storybook one up-ends reality.

Tarun Maity works in wood, terracotta, bronze and ABS fibreglass. His bold, experimental portfolio switches between the realistic and the surreal. He names his sculptures to resonate semi-autobiographically and by rendering everyday objects in these materials, he challenges our assumptions, as do the other two sculptors in this show.

international presence.

Our services include our Artist Initiative Programme which fosters new talent and the Art of Investment that maximizes the value of the process concerned.
