SWAMI

Om Swami's work is always very popular at Gallery G. It sold very well at our shows in San Francisco and Houston last year.

This new collection he calls the Sadhak series portrays taste: the flavours of the sattvik diet, calming and nourishing to mind, body and emotions.

The strong imagery here might seem to contradict that, but sattva embraces extremes. As always, Swami's faces are without eyes, so that form and theme will find other means of expression.

This show coincides with Bangalore Habba in timing and theme: it's also on at our Vivanta by the Taj space at the ITPB at the same time, so that Bangalore Habba reaches as many art lovers as it can.
